

Go Team!

If you are going to have your friends over to watch the game and cheer for your favorite team, please remember to be courteous of your neighbors. Keep noise down and have your guests park in the areas designated for visitors. Your neighbors appreciate it and will offer you the same courtesy.

Get Fit for the Holidays

We've got your gym right here in our community! Take advantage of your fitness possibilities in our fitness center and see yourself getting into shape—just in time for the holidays!

Trash Talk

It's our pleasure to provide trash receptacles for your use. Make sure it is used for trash only with all bags secured tightly. Please do not use the receptacles for large items such as mattresses or furniture.

Safety First on Halloween

The National Safety Council encourages all parents to put safety first this Halloween.

- Make sure a parent or responsible adult always accompanies young children on neighborhood rounds. If older children are going alone, plan and review the route and agree on a specific time when children should return home. All unaccompanied children should stay in a group.
- Only go to homes with a porch light on, and NEVER enter a home or car for a treat.
- Put electronic devices down, keep heads up and walk, don't run, across streets.
- All costumes, wigs and accessories should be fire-resistant.
- Fasten reflective tape to costumes and bags.

Halloween Treats and Pets

Once the kids have brought their loot home, make sure no one gets sick—the kids or your pet. Pets like sweets and may try to eat the candy. Of course, too much candy gives animals an upset stomach, just like it does children, but it may also be dangerous.

Ask kids not to share candy with pets. Candy, especially chocolate, is toxic for animals and can cause vomiting, restlessness, heart disturbances, seizures and even death. Most vets agree that dogs and other pets have to eat a lot of chocolate before it gets dangerous, but it is still smart to keep the chocolate away from them. Watch smaller pets especially, since it takes less to harm them.

So keep the candy and chocolate out of your pet's reach and celebrate Halloween with your pet by sharing only goodies that are made especially for them, like dog biscuits or cat treats.

Enjoy the Weather!

Fall is a beautiful time to open your windows and let the breezes blow through. Please keep in mind that your home noise might blow through the community as well. Keep your TV and music levels for only you to enjoy.

Columbus Day

On October 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus landed on the shores of our country after a ten-week voyage from Italy. The first recorded celebration of Columbus Day in the United States took place on October 12, 1792. The 400th anniversary of the event, however, inspired the first official Columbus Day holiday in the United States. In 1892, President Benjamin Harrison issued a proclamation urging Americans to mark the day. In 1937, President Franklin Roosevelt proclaimed every October 12 as Columbus Day. Since 1971, it has been celebrated on the second Monday in October.

Jack-o-Lanterns

After you finish carving your pumpkin this year, we would appreciate it if you would consider putting a small flashlight in your jack-o-lantern instead of a candle. Flames of any kind left unattended are dangerous, and leaving an open flame exposed to the elements for a long period is an even bigger fire hazard. Use a flashlight or glowstick—no fires will be started, no fingers will be burned and your jack-o-lantern will be just as spooky.

YOUR LIVING ROOM...

Living

In honor of October's Get Organized Week, let's focus on getting your living area organized and ready for the upcoming holidays. We've got some great ideas on our Hassle Free Newsletter Pinterest page!

- Do book bags, purses, satchels accumulate in your living area? Specify a closet or purchase a piece of storage furniture for that purpose. Practice storing those items in that closet or furniture for 30 days until it becomes a habit.
- Have a designated spot for mail and go through every piece on a daily or weekly basis. Pay, file, recycle and shred every week as well.
- Need a place for kids to play? Carve out a corner for toys in a storage ottoman or set up a bookcase and children's table.
- Utilize the areas around your sofa. Use baskets for extra blankets and pillows. Place a couple of low bookcases along the back of your sofa for book storage. Top it off with photos, a lamp and some treasured objects.
- Remotes - find a basket or container and put them there every single time.
- Too many photos? Rethink the digital photo frame to continuously show off your favorite ones. Consider cute photo boxes to store on shelves. Beautiful multi-framed photos can be placed on your walls.
- DVDs, CDs and books can be a gigantic monster just waiting to be tamed. Get them all together and sort through - making a pile for keeping and one for selling back or donating. Consider putting CDs onto iTunes and then donating. Once you have it under control, the options are endless for storing.
- Knick knacks and collections can outgrow themselves. Keep your favorites and give away or sell those that are not as sentimental.

Take a Hike

Really, just walk. October is a great month to get started on a walking regimen. With the craze of fitbits and walking apps, it's easy to see how far you've walked and how many calories you've burned. Once you download a free book to listen to, you may be surprised how far you go!

VEGETABLE HAMBURGER SOUP

- 2 lbs. hamburger meat - crumbled, cooked and drained
- 1 packet (out of a box of two) onion soup mix
- 1 can petite diced tomatoes - don't drain
- 1 can tomato soup
- 1 can pinto beans - don't drain
- 2-10 or 12 oz. pkgs. of frozen vegetables
- 5 cups water
- Salt and pepper to taste.

Place the cooked, drained hamburger meat in the bottom of the crock pot. Then add all the other ingredients. Cook on high for 6 hours or on low for 6-8 hours.

WHAT CAN I DO

October is recognized as Breast Cancer Awareness Month, but we celebrate victories every day with all cancer survivors. What can you do to help someone who has cancer? It helps for you to just be there - holding their hand, letting them cry, encouraging them to talk if they want.

Sometimes when your friend is going through treatments, they will appreciate cards, letters, email or social media even more than visits. Survivors call these silent messengers.

Offer practical help by cooking for them or the family. Go to the store for them or drive them to their doctor appointments. Instead of saying what can I do or how can I help, just do something.

TIME TO SNUGGLE

There's nothing like clean sheets to make you want to snuggle for hours in your bed. Here's the low-down on how and when to wash.

Ideally, your sheets should be washed every week. Look at it this way. You spend at least 6-8 hours a night in your bed. Eight hours multiplied by seven days is 56 hours - in the same sheets.

Wash your sheets and pillowcases in warm or hot water (check care label) and generally wash them by themselves. They need a lot of room to get clean. Don't wrap sheets around the agitator as they might tear and wrinkle. Don't forget to pretreat any stains. Wash printed and colored pillowcases inside out to protect the color.

Your care label will also suggest drying methods. High drying causes wrinkling, shrinking and over-drying which weakens the fibers. Use wool or rubber dryer balls or use a couple of tennis balls tied in a cotton sock. Ironing your sheets will make them feel new again.

Store sheets, neatly folded, in a cool, dry closet or drawer. Avoid storing sheets in plastic containers which can trap moisture.

Pillows and comforters should be washed at least twice a year; mattress covers once a month; and throw blankets a couple of times a year.
